What's New In GPP Remote Server?

1.Why a GPP Remote Server? It is common to rely on a file exchange service or other peer-to-peer services to share files with your friends and colleagues. However, the problem is that these services are not supported by your mobile phone, but the app you just need to download at your home or office. Therefore, a service that is installed on both computer and mobile device will be a perfect option. 2.Requirements: GPP Remote Server is a reliable and useful piece of software worth having when you need to connect to your computer remotely by using your Android smartphone. The application comes with a tabbed interface from where you can choose the services that you want to be available through your phone, specify the port number, then access all your favorite files from your phone device. Before starting, you need to make sure that the application works properly on both your computer and your Android smartphone, otherwise you won't be able to access your files. When you launch GPP Remote Server for the first time, you are required to register your computer by specifying its ID and password. After that, you need to install the application on your smartphone as well, add a new host, specify the credentials and connect to your computer remotely. This way, with the help of this program you are able to access your favorite folders through your phone, use the device as a mouse and keyboard for your computer, manage files, control media player functions, send and receive messages etc. Because GPP Remote Server acts as a server and the handset needs to connect to it, you can easily preview the desktop, as well as monitor your house via a connected webcam. By accessing the Advanced tab you are able to change the port number or simply use a default one, launch the application each time Windows starts and get notified when the connection is established. The Services tab allows you to enable all the features you want to make use of. This way, you can control your media files and your microphone, manage files and access your webcam. To wrap it up, GPP Remote Server comes in handy for users who need to access their computer remotely via an Android smartphone, stream media files and monitor the surroundings with the help of a webcam. Related Software Remote Desktop like you use on a PC, but for Android Smartphones and other devices. Use of port numbers, specific programs, or specific security can be configured. All the components of the desktop are displayed in their entirety
