It requires Windows 7+ and Internet Explorer 8+. ImageUP is a tool that gives users the chance to upload their screenshots directly from the system clipboard. The application also allows users to preview the pictures they want to upload. You can also use any picture in ImageUP as a profile picture and any links or images in the HTML section will be automatically uploaded to imgur. Features: Supported browser: Internet Explorer 8+ Directly copy the data to your clipboard by selecting it manually or by choosing a directory where to copy the photos. As soon as you select the files, a preview of the images is shown. Quickly upload to imgur by dragging the data from your clipboard to the application's window. Click on the Upload button to start the upload process. All your photos are automatically uploaded and a small popup informs you when the upload has been done. If you upload several pictures, you can preview them all in a convenient way. How to use ImageUP: The interface is very simple. After launching the application, you will be asked to select which images you want to upload to imgur. If you press the OK button, the application will upload all the pictures you have selected and you will see the upload progress. All the files will be uploaded to a directory you can choose (default is the same as your user account) and you can always access them if you need to. Limitations: The current version has a few limitations: You cannot upload videos. You cannot upload images to an external application (it will just copy them to your clipboard). You cannot upload documents. You cannot upload to imgur.com (only the images).
