progress in negotiations to deescalate trade tensions between the world's two largest economies, a development that calmed investor nerves and lifted the price of crude. There is little doubt that the trade rift between the U.S. and China is affecting markets. But now, it may also be impacting economic growth. The more than $500 billion in trade frictions between the U.S. and China have gotten the attention of businesses, who have been forced to scramble to cut costs to deal with the resulting tariff and non-tariff barriers, with analysts warning of repercussions for the global economy. A key wrinkle for businesses is what implications the U.S.-China trade

Tis is an excellent app for secure synchronization and saving time, that is for sure. For those of you who use multiple email applications on your device, this could be the answer to all of your sync needs. I won't be using this thing for my calendar anymore. I don't like the idea that Google has a history of deleting stuff from users. I have thousands of emails and meetings in my calendar and now its gone. [Update] OKay, new version is out for you to enjoy and learn from my experience. Not to worry about code formatting, its a blog post, not a technical article. Tested the new version without any problem. I can see a few new features, just to keep you entertained. 1. Automatic connection for emails. 2. Removable calendar.
