This is Twin Stick Shooter for Gnomandia, a co-op twin-stick shooter with a unique twist on classic twin-stick shooters. The time has come for a new era of warfare in Gnomandia, a land devastated by the undead and plagued by ancient evil. As a soldier of fortune, you must raise the undead, awaken the gnomes and forge a new destiny. With 40 different permanent and temporary gnomes and thousands of player-controlled gnomes, weapons and progression, there are so many ways to play this game! As you begin your quest, your faction leader, a powerful gnome known only as The General, will assign you to a gnome village, and it is there that you must begin your journey. Train and assemble your army, gain XP, and level up for your gnome army, at which point you might earn achievements for leveling up or finding epic loot. Your army's attack, defense and defense strength values increase, allowing for aggressive or passive playstyles. You can also send resources to adjacent villages to support your gnome army as the game goes on. The General's health and gnome army will drain as they fight, so you will need to carefully distribute your resources to ensure that you have enough for the current battle. Raid other villages, gaining reputation by defeating enemy armies. Increase the battle stats of your village and increase your food production to be able to field more gnomes for the battle. Rally your army to win the battle. If you lose a battle, instead of sending all of your gnomes to attack your own village, you can build a new village to send your gnomes to with the resources you have earned. Clear the wave-based quests and the boss-based quests to advance to the next level. Win and unlock new battles, boss fights, weapon and progression types, and quests. Recruit new gnomes, upgrade your gnomes and weapons, and gain XP and level up. Defeating monsters and bosses in battle will increase your army's XP gain, making them increasingly powerful. Defeating bosses will open chests that contain random loot, and some chests can be opened multiple times! Save your army from monsters, and your gnomes and guns will be restored after a battle. If you die in battle, you'll need to wait to respawn until all enemies are defeated and the rewards from the battle are complete. If you're a

What's new in Asteroids Extreme:

E02 - Derelict “There’s some kind of stench down here. Probably diseased corpses of the people that usually keep these chambers clean. It’s impossible to get any real information from a miner. Not from the ones that aren’t at the mines anyway. Word’s getting around quickly. At least about what we have discovered.” Pickles snorted. It sounded more like a weird reaction than a snort. A small nugget of memory rose in my head. Am I really going to remember this day? Charlie’s comment. Max’s words. I’m not able to see or hear anything. Not yet. But I’m still alive. As I hobbled up to the room I saw that Pickles was curled under a cot and moaning. Ty had left her half-asleep. He was calmly stating to an Icom signal. No wonder, none of us used them. They transmit through a radio frequency just below the human hearing range. I quickly took off my armour, I had been walking around in it the whole time I was with Pickles. Climbed onto the cot, ignoring the painful, throbbing pain from my leg. Pausing, I looked over at Pickles. Awake now, she scowled at me. “And it’s between the hours of noon and midnight. The guests of Morbin have full access to its facilities, and are allowed and even encouraged to stay as long as they wish, however long that may be. Morbin’s a spacious facility.” My eyes drifted back towards the PC. I wasn’t in a correct state to react properly, so I stared at the screen. “The party’s not a big deal. I haven’t seen anything like that since the drug-induced stress party we did for the Hanging Moors. I think all us kids are just enjoying being here. For what it’s worth, this is the second time I’ve been to the Derelict now. First time was earlier on this run.” “Me too. On the last trip, we were able to down the camera’s batteries by the time we got down here. You can walk in for a look after one to two hours. Y’
