If its not in the first file list it would be in the second. If it is in the first file list it will be in the second. Perhaps the healthiest place to work THEIR WORDS: Andrey Bogdanov (left), Michelle Goldfarb SOAKING UP THE SUN: Andrey Bogdanov works at a terrace in the gated estate where he lives in Voronezh, Russia Playing soccer in the sun. Swimming on an island. Driving motorbikes down a mountain road. These are among the activities the co-founders of Voronezh-based Network for Tax-Free Cooperation (RKV) have organised during their years of road trips across Russia. Andrey Bogdanov and Michelle Goldfarb have travelled from Moscow to Siberia in a Russian 8x8 truck — and hitchhiked from there all the way to Voronezh. In fact, the couple are currently planning a 14-month cycling expedition. But although Bogdanov and Goldfarb admit to sometimes preferring to work from home, they believe the best way to enjoy life is to get out of it. “We’ve had to leave Russia a few times because of the enormous bureaucracy and the huge daily grind,” says Bogdanov, 37, who works at his father-in-law’s golf club. “So I wanted to start the network to bring good managers and good employers closer to each other.” Voronezh is a major city and a leading industrial hub in the southeast of Russia, near the border with Ukraine. Today, it is one of the largest cities in the region and the administrative centre of its economic zone. Tourists enjoy walking around the city’s square, the pedestrian zone and its numerous museums and monuments. They cycle along the ancient Voronezh river — more than 110km of the city’s western shore — in a pleasant atmosphere, while the local public transport company covers lines that start from here and reach Volgograd, the main city of the neighbouring Stavropol region, and Bakhchysarai, a middle-sized town about 1,200km northeast of Voronezh. Locals often discuss the city’s urban development, but the changes in Voronezh resemble those in other big Russian cities — like Moscow or St Petersburg — when they begin to appear. c6a93da74d
